What's New from iHomefinder – July 23, 2012

iHomefinder is continually working to bring you new products and improve our existing products. Your feedback guides our development and helps us decide which enhancements will be most valuable.

Below is some information on the improvements we've just released.

"My Account" for all clients

Previously, only iSite customers were able to change their package through the Control Panel, from a link in the Website Building Tool.

Now all clients can switch packages or products and update their billing information by clicking the "My Account" button on the Control Panel homepage,. This allows for easy upgrades and account maintenance.

WordPress IDX

WordPress IDX accounts now include the following new pages:

 - Open Homes Search
 - Sold/Pending Listings
 - Supplemental Listings
 - Contact Form
 - Home Valuation Request Form

Additionally, clients can opt to display Sold/Pending and Supplemental listings on their Featured Listings page.

Existing clients should update to version 1.2.0 in order to add the new pages to their site.

Optima IDX
